Justice Brandeis Likens Zion Pioneers to Pilgrim Fathers

Palestine Development Council in Second Annual Conference at New York Decides to Establish Local Leagues with Dues-Paying Members—To Raise Million Dollars This Year—Mayor Hylan Urges Citizens to Contribute.

New York (J. T. A.)—More than $200,000 was raised by the Palestine Development Council at the closing sessions of the second annual conference held at the Hotel Astor. The sum of half a million dollars has been spent in building and other forms of enterprise during the past half year in Palestine, it was announced, and the Council proposes to add another half million of investment before the end of the year. The Council adopted resolution authorizing the establishment throughout the country of a network of local Palestine Development Leagues, an intensive campaign having been authorized to establish branches of these leagues throughout the United States.

"I have never left a Zionist meeting with more satisfaction with the work accomplished and the prospects in sight," Justice Brandeis said at the concluding session. Justice Brandeis in particular referred to the co-operation of the Central Conference of Reform Rabbis, which was represented at the conference by Rabbis Isaac Landman, Nathan Stern and Charles Levi.

The largest subscription at the conference came from Dr. Stephen S. Wise, who pledged himself to personally raise $50,000 for the Council. Emanuel Hertz, of Washington Heights, brother of the Chief Rabbi of the British Empire, pledged his congregation to raise $37,500, sufficient for 15 houses to be erected in Palestine by the Council. Rabbi Max Heller, of New Orleans, and Rabbi Blau, of New York, each personally subscribed $500. Providence, R.I., was pledged to raise $10,000 by Max Grant, of that city. Allentown, Pa., was pledged to the extent of $10,000. Israel Nesson, Boston, subscribed $10,000; Henry Friend, Chicago, $4,000; F. J. Fahs, New York, $5,000, and Bernard Flexner and sister each subscribed $1,000.

The resolutions adopted for the establishment of local Palestine Development Leagues throughout the country provide that the leagues shall be organized on a dues-paying basis. The resolutions provide that the "local leagues shall fix their own membership dues, provided a per capita tax of not less than $3.00 per head shall be sent to the central office in New York for its administrative fund."

The Council went on record in favor of the establishment in the near future of an industrial bank as well as an agricultural bank for Palestine. The function of the industrial bank is to encourage co-operative industrial enterprise in Palestine, while the agricultural bank is to foster co-operative agricultural enterprise. It was also decided to create a fund which should care for the making of an economic survey of Palestine. Another resolution put the Council on record as favoring the early establishment of a Penny Savings Bank for the people of Palestine.

The Palestine Building Loan and Savings Association, it was announced, was now erecting 120 homes in Palestine, and had plans for the erection of an "ever increasing number." Another resolution provides for the gathering at once of a total of "one million dollars necessary to meet the immediate housing and credit needs of Palestine."

Professor Patrick Geddes, famous town-planner and designer of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, addressed the conference and outlined a plan to establish a Palestine insurance company, the receipts of which would be used, after the expense of the business was subtracted, to reafforest Palestine.

"We are trying to build a new land," said Justice Brandeis. "We Americans, when we think of the building of a new land, at least those of us who have been in New England, think always of the Pilgrim Fathers, what they did, what their adventure was and what they builded. If they were likely to be discouraged, I should think they would be discouraged by the loss of at least half their number before the first year was over. Disease, death, trial, left behind what in a very short time became one of the most prosperous regions on earth. But it was the spirit. And the spirit that they had in coming west is a spirit that we should show in going East.

"I have heard it said by some," continued Mr. Brandeis, "How can you expect success in so small a country? To my mind, the smallness of the country presents the greatest possibility of our success."

Reports appearing in the general press to the effect that there was a split in the Council over the question of the Council's "sense of indebtedness to Great Britain as the author of the Balfour Declaration and the Mandatory for the League of Nations in Great Britain" were branded as erroneous by Dr. Wise. "It is most unfortunate that an inaccurate impression of the proceedings of yesterday's conference should have gone out," said Dr. Wise. "The question was whether the Palestine Development Council, in conference assembled, shall deal with any political implication of the Palestinian resettlement. As chairman of the session, I found myself under the necessity of ruling the resolution out of order, because the Palestine Development Council, by virtue of its spirit and purpose, must limit itself to the consideration and solution of the problems involved in the social-economic upbuilding of Palestine."

Mayor in Proclamation Urges Citizens to Contribute

The Mayor of New York City, John F. Hylan, has issued a proclamation to the citizens of New York commending the work of the Keren Hayesod and expressing satisfaction that the Jews of New York set aside Tuesday, May 29th, as "Palestine Day." He also urges all citizens to "remember generously" on that day the Palestine Foundation Fund "so that the largest sums may be raised for the rebuilding of the ancient land of the children of Israel." The Mayor interrupted his review of the Jubilee parade Saturday, May 26, celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of Greater New York in order to sign this proclamation.

"As the Mayor of a municipality which comprises within its limits nearly one million and a half Jews, the largest number ever gathered together in any single city, it gives me particular pleasure to note the success which has attended the efforts in the campaign for the Keren Hayesod, which is now drawing to a close. This fund is devoted to the rebuilding of Palestine, the ancient Jewish homeland, and the generosity and idealism manifested in the support of this project are a just cause of satisfaction to all the citizens of our community, regardless of race or religious affiliation.

"Two years ago I had the pleasure of honoring, as Mayor of New York, the President of the World Zionist Organization, Dr. Chaim Weitzmann, and I rejoice in the success which he has achieved in his present American tour in behalf of the worthy cause which he represents.

"I am glad to learn that the Jews of New York have set aside next Tuesday, May 29, as 'Palestine Day,' and as a token of the interest of all the citizens of New York in the revival of the Holy Land, I urge upon our citizens to remember generously on that day the Palestine Foundation Fund (Keren Hayesod), so that the largest sums may be raised for the rebuilding of the ancient land of the children of Israel."

BETHLEN SEEKS JEWISH FAVOR IN RETURN FOR GUARANTEES

Budapest (J. T. A.)—Hungary is willing to bargain with the Jews for the removal of the existing discriminations against them if the Jews will engage in propaganda on their behalf in their efforts to obtain a loan. This is the purport of an offer said to have been made by the Hungarian Prime Minister, Count Bethlen, to Jewish representatives according to the press.

The Premier's statement came in response to a query by newspapermen as to whether he had during his journey to other parts of Europe in behalf of the Hungarian loan, made any guarantees for the removal of the Jewish disabilities, it having been intimated that Count Bethlen had in particular approached the Aliance Israelite with such a proposition.

The Prime Minister replied that Hungary was prepared to modify the "numerus clausus" which limits the number of Jewish students at the universities if the Jews outside of Hungary would in return engage in propaganda tending to improve public opinion regarding Hungary, especially in Central and Western Europe.

MANY INJURED BY WARSAW BOMB

Warsaw (J. T. A.)—At least a score of students were injured when a bomb, believed to have been planted by members of an anti-Semitic band near a high school building exploded to-day. A number of passersby were also injured. Professor Oziemianski has been killed.

The headquarters of the Students' Aid Association, an anti-Semitic organization, is located near the schoolhouse, and officials believe that the members of that organization are responsible for the latest of the bomb outrages.

The Minister of Justice to-day announced that those believed to be involved in the dynamiting of the ultra-nationalist Polish papers, "Kurjer Polski" and "Rzeczpospolita" will be tried before a court martial.

Charges are made that the agents of the anti-Semites dynamited the newspaper offices, assuming that the suspicion in the bombing of these ultra-nationalist papers would fall upon Jews.

EXCLUSION OF JEWS FROM POLISH G. H. Q. BEGINS

Warsaw (J. T. A.)—Polish police and military officials have begun to carry out the recent secret instructions to oust Jews from Military General Headquarters, a report from Bialystock states. Three Jewish policemen were discharged, and a number of Jewish soldiers who were working in the Military G.H.Q. were returned to the ranks.

Greenery as a Matchmaker

STORY FROM THE YIDDISH

By M. Spector

(Translated by Hannah Berman)

Hirshalle, a young man of about twenty years of age, was quite at home at the house of Reb Leibus Pessyas. They loved him there, as if he were their own child. And Pessyas' daughter—a young lady of about nineteen—loved him, too, "like a brother." She told him so, frequently and freely. And yet, during the last year, Hirshalle has been sad and sorrowful. He looks pale and ill.

And she asks him why he looks so ill, why he is always so abstracted, why he avoids meeting people, and why he does not talk with her as gaily as he used to do only last year.

He answers that all this is really because she, Feigalle, "loves him like a brother."

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughs Feigalle. "What else do you want—that I should hate you?"

"No! I want you to love me, but not like a brother."

"How then?" and Feigalle laughs louder still.

"Like a betrothed," he answers seriously. "Because I love you like a betrothed."

Once he told her that his parents had asked the match-maker to make up a match for him. And this was being done. But he wanted to hear nothing, and know nothing of it. But if she Feigalle, told him that she loved him not like a brother, he would ask the match-maker to talk with her father on his, Hirshalle's, behalf.

Feigalle laughed again. She told him that he was a "little fool."

And Hirshalle went away from her with his head lowered, and an unhappy, broken heart. And, although he did not cease feeling at home in her house, he did not speak of his happiness any more. He grew sadder and more silent.

But she could not answer him otherwise than she had done. Matches were being brought forward for her also and with many better young men than was Hirshalle. And, according to the statements of the match-maker, one of them was an exceptional young man. "He is beautiful and scholarly as the whole world. He talks and writes several languages, even French and German. In Jewish matters he is, of course, well-versed—He has even written in a journal once. His name was printed in a newspaper. And when, please God, they would come to terms about the dowry, the two parties would be brought together at the Kazatin railway station, where all the trains met."

It was said that the Kazatin railway station was wonderfully beautiful. It was lit up with electricity. And—if it is the will of God, and the young man and the girl are pleased with one another, the bridegroom-elect and his parents would come to the village, and the betrothal would take place.

Feigalle imagined to herself how the village would look when her betrothed would arrive in all his glory. Everyone would run, each individual trying to get past his neighbor, each anxious to [illegible] Feigalle's betrothed. You may well [illegible] their tongues in great surprise.

"What a bridegroom-elect! A bridegroom-elect! What a fine fellow our Feigalle's getting! It's just a wonderful [illegible]

[illegible] betrothal, she would [illegible] the latter case [illegible] in his village. Well, what's to be said there would be "there" when she arrived!

And, her fiancé did not remain [illegible]. She would go "there" [illegible]. She would go "there"

They would [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] would accompany [illegible] [illegible] she would see [illegible] [illegible] new world, [illegible] people, come into a new world. . . . They would come to meet her on the road . . . . Perhaps with music! . . . . And she a full-fledged, happy bride-elect! . . . . Then, later, she would be married! She would be a daughter-in-law in a new place! What excitement there would be, then!

And now Hirshalle arrived suddenly! It was positively a joke! What was Hirshalle? True, his parents, too, were respectable folks. Her parents would agree to the match. It is also true that Hirshalle is a fine young fellow. But what was Hirshalle? Who of the village does not know Hirshalle? "Whom is Feigalle engaged to?" . . . "To Hirshalle." . . . Ha! Ha! Ha! That is no joke at all. It is not even necessary to go and see what Feigalle's betrothed looks like. For who does not know him? Really, even the children in their cradles know him. Well, and afterwards—what would be then? After the betrothal, I mean? Nothing! And after the wedding? Again, nothing! The same Hirshalle, the same village, the same parents—everything the same as when I was a girl. No change whatever! Then what good is such a betrothal to me? Why get married? Surely, it is a real joke. He is plainly a fool, this same Hirshalle, for wanting me to become engaged to him.

The summer went by; the winter. It is again summer. Pesach is gone. And now it is the eve of Shebnouth. Men were preparing for the festival. Women were baking cheese-cakes. And boys and girls were looking for greenery with which to decorate the houses, in honour of the festival.

Hirshalle is also busy about the greenery. His home is already provided for. But he has still to decorate Leibus Pessyas' house. There are no young men there who would fetch the greenery. And surely he is one of the family. And he knows that Feigalle loves greenery very much, and she loves, still more, fresh, fragrant flowers.

This day he has almost forgotten "in what way Feigalle loves him." He has no time to think of it. He remembers only that the festival is coming and that, when it came, he would have more time in which to talk with her, and to look at her.

First thing in the morning, he went into the Leibus Pessyas house with a basketful of fresh greenery and flowers.

On seeing Hirshalle with the basket of greenery and flowers, Feigalle was pleasantly surprised and greeted him with a loving smile which lit up his whole soul.

"Ah! Flowers!" cried Feigalle, clapping her little white hands. And her eyes grew bigger and brighter with joy. "Ah! What a good fellow you are, Hirshalle!"

And Hirshalle commenced to decorate the room with extreme pleasure, with enthusiasm. He worked as if he were inspired, like a true artist. His eyes glowed most beautifully. On his pale cheeks appeared two red roses. And, whilst weaving the flowers into a "Shield of David" he accompanied himself by a sweet, joyful little song.

Feigalle did not take her eyes off the work the whole time, nor off the artist himself.

When he was finished, they both stood at a distance to look at the beautiful, tastefully executed piece "Shield of David" which so inspired Feigalle that she unconsciously and without saying a word, threw her arms about Hirshalle and kissed him to herself.

"My dear good handsome Hirshalle!" she cried to him.

Hirshalle trembled. And the first kiss was exchanged.

From that day she began to love him otherwise than "as a brother."

Stubborn People

By Ethel Taurog

With an over-abundance of smiles and merry greetings that belied her red-rimmed eyelids, Mrs. Gliegberg rushed to welcome Mrs. Hoffman, the prominent social worker and the wife of the even more prominent Solomon L. Hoffman, who despite his large mercantile house, one of the largest in the city, still found time to take an active part in all the organized and unorganized relief work brought to his attention.

Though a visit from Mrs. Hoffman generally meant the giving of a substantial donation, Mrs. Fleigberg was glad to greet the prominent woman. For, notwithstanding her husband's extreme wealth, she was a friendly and unaffected woman.

The business which had brought her settled by the transfer of a bulky package of tickets from Mrs. Hoffman's modest looking, expensive leather bag to Mrs. Fleigberg's elaborate looking, expensive beaded bag—the bags somewhat characterized their owners—Mrs. Hoffman inquired, "I didn't see your charming niece this evening. I enjoyed looking at her so much the last time I was here. She is a sweet young thing, with her natural, unadorned beauty, like a rose."

"Oh, Olga," said Mrs. Fliegberg, without enthusiasm. "In her bedroom, I suppose, reading a Russian book. She with her Russian books. That girl will stay a 'greenie' if she's in America a hundred years. Take me, f'rinstance, Mrs. Hoffman, you could believe me, I could speak English already when I was here a couple months. Nobody would believe it that I was a greenhorn. And, believe me, I didn't have it so good. Here she ain't got nothing to do, only to go to school and learn. You think they appreciate it?"

"Most certainly they do," affirmed Mrs. Hoffman. "Your niece seemed very grateful."

"I tell you, excuse me, it's like thrown out." With a deep sigh of relief at the opportunity to unburden herself, Mrs. Fliegberg settled herself comfortably in the massive, overstuffed rocker. "Just like you would throw it out in the street. Stubborn she is, you should excuse me, like a mule. And do you know why it is, Mrs. Hoffman? Because the greenhorns nowadays got it too good. She should come in America when I did, and go work in a necktie factory, and sit bent up double over the neckties twelve hours a day, with a piece of herring and dry bread with a sour pickle for dinner. Then maybe she would appreciate it what a good home she got here by us. And the luck them greenhorns got it yet. Excuse me, Mrs. Hoffman, why I should bother you with my troubles, only you could believe me, my heart is so full."

Mrs. Fliegberg flung her arms out dramatically to indicate the extent of her fullness of heart. Mrs. Hoffman nodded sympathetically.

"Why should I be ashamed to tell you, and you prob'ly seen it yourself? I was crying just before you came. And over what you could ask me, would I have to cry if not over that niece, mine Olga? When I'll tell you, you will think I'm a fool for aggervating myself. The way she'll cook, she'll have to eat, only it hurts me to see how a girl throws away such luck. Maybe I bother you too much?"

"Not at all," said Mrs. Hoffman, patiently.

"Well, it's like this. Two weeks ago mine Olga gets a toothache, so I take her up to Dr. Zitron, our regular dentist. You know him maybe? Such a fine man, and rich, like Vanderbilt. Well, and if he don't go and fall in love with her right away, just like the moving pictures. Every day he calls her up, wants to take her to theatre, out riding in his machine. And she—she refuses. He comes and brings her candy. You should see boxes of candy, costs I bet you two dollars a pound, and she—she won't stir from the house. Then he comes and talks it over with me, I should help him. He is crazy about her. So I talk to her, nice, like an aunt. 'Olgele, Dr. Zitron is crazy about you, and such a chance you get once in a hundred years. Believe me, he could get the nicest American girl. Only it's your chance. Go out with him.'

"And what do you think she answers me? He is maybe a very nice man, too nice yet for her, only she can't think of him, because she's got a greenhorn sweetheart in Russia yet, and she promised him she would wait for him till he comes to America. Can you imagine? Because of some greenhorn shlemiel in Russia, she is throwing such a golden chance away."

Mrs. Fliegberg's voice became choked with tears. "Ain't it an aggervation! You see a person throwing away a gold mine, and you have to stand and look, and keep quiet. I tell you, it's just stubborn, that's all it is."

Mrs. Hoffman smiled indulgently. "I wouldn't take it so to heart, Mrs. Fliegberg, and in return for your confidences, I am going to tell you something that may change your viewpoint slightly. First, I want to ask you, Mrs. Fliegberg, just what do you think of my husband?"

"What I think of your husband!" Mrs. Fliegberg gasped. "What does everybody think of Mr. Solomon L. Hoffman! All my friends, my good friends, my dear one should have such husbands, such sons, such — such." She groped in an overcome manner.

Mrs. Hoffman smiled enigmatically. "And yet, Mrs. Fliegberg, strong objections were raised by my relatives when I insisted upon marrying him against their wishes. That was almost forty years ago. I was a young girl, a greenhorn, as you say, who had just come over from the old country. My oldest sister, who, with her husband, had made the journey to America a few years before, had sent for me. On the ship I met a young boy who was coming to an uncle. We became quite friendly, and continued to be friends in our new home. His uncle bought him two baskets filled with notions, and sent him out on his travels in small towns. I was sent to work for a dressmaker.

"One evening, my uncle came home from his store quite sick. A doctor was sent for. He devoted a few minutes to the patient, and then he devoted a greater part of the evening to me. After that, although my uncle became well again, the doctor continued coming every evening.

"'Say, Goldie, you know the doctor was in my store to-day, and he asked me what you think about him,'" my uncle said to me one evening.

"Why should he want to know what I think of him?" I asked.

My uncle laughed. "That's a nice question to ask. Why do you think the doctor comes here every evening? To look at me, or at your sister, or maybe at the children? He likes you, and I tell you, Goldie, you were born with a golden spoon in your mouth."

"A pound of luck is better than a ton of gold," said my sister. "Such a chance happens once in a thousand years. Believe me, my sister, no one sang over your cradle that you would be a doctor's wife."

"I a doctor's wife! I smiled. But when I saw how serious my sister was about it, I decided to tell them the truth."

"In the first place," I said to them, "I have already promised one man that I would marry him, and I understand that in America you are allowed to have only one husband. But even if I had not promised my Solomon that I was going to marry him, and even I didn't love him better than all the doctors in Russia and America, and the whole world, I would not marry your doctor. A person should know himself. How can I expect to marry a man like that, and why should a man like that want to marry me! Now he is in love with my pretty face, with my fresh, red cheeks, but after a few years when that is gone, he will find that he is married to an ignorant greenhorn, and then he will curse himself and me. My Solomon loves me, that I know. He even loved me on the ship, when I was so sick that I begged them to throw me into the ocean when I looked like an unripe cucumber. We are both two ignorant greenhorns, and we both have the same things to learn."

"Then," Mrs. Hoffman smiled broadly, "then they turned loose upon me a storm of arguments such as you no doubt have used with your sweet niece, that I was ungrateful, that I was insane, that my Solomon was a good-for-nothing shlemiel, and that I was throwing a piece of good fortune away 'for a good-for-nothing rangenichts.'"

"Such a nerve," exclaimed Mrs. Fliegberg, indignantly. "Such a nerve!"

"Oh, yes, I forgot, when they did give up, as they had to a week before my wedding, my sister and her husband said that there was no use trying to do anything for stubborn people."

FORD'S SWISS SUMMER HOME SEEN AS ANTI-SEMITES' SHRINE

Berlin (J. T. A.)—Henry Ford has leased a summer villa at a fashionable resort near Berne, according to reports appearing in the Swiss papers. These reports declare that Ford plans to occupy his Swiss residence in the near future.

Some of the papers are indulging in much speculation as to results that may be expected if the story of Mr. Ford's coming to Switzerland is true. Liberal papers declare that his arrival would have the effect of making Switzerland the world center of anti-Semitic agitation.

Credence is lent to this rumor, according to some of the papers, by the fact that numerous translations of anti-Jewish articles published some time ago in the Dearborn Independent, have lately been translated and distributed in pamphlet form in Switzerland.

DEATH OF MRS. MOND

London (J. T. A.)—The death has taken place here of Mrs. Mond, wife of the great chemist, Dr. Ludwig Mond, F.R.S., and mother of Sir Alfred Mond, M.P., and Mr. Robert Ludwig Mond, F.R.S., the eminent scientist.

By Mrs. Mond's death the bequest of her husband, who died in 1909, of a most important collection of old masters for the National Gallery comes into effect. The collection is "to be kept together in one or more rooms of the National Gallery under the name of the "Mond Collection."

The Kaiser Shows His Hand

We know of no man in Europe who is more unfortunate in his public expressions than the ex-Kaiser of Germany. He possesses a genius of always putting his left foot forward first. To use a slang expression, "He suffers from foot and mouth disease. Every time he opens his mouth he puts his foot into it."

The Kaiser always had a mania for the glare of publicity. It was the result of his megalomania and irrepressible ego. No ruler in modern European history was as vain. He was a poseur par excellence. His poses were not merely those one might readily forgive in an Emperor, but those one never expected in Kasier Wilhelm, such as posing as a scholar and a philosopher.

A recent newspaper despatch affords us a beautiful instance of the latter. We are informed that the Kaiser has become a theologian. This is in reality not news. The Kaiser always was a religious fanatic. It is still within the memory of many of us since the Kaiser had the German Oriental scholar and anti-Semite, Delitsch give under royal patronage the now famous lectures, Bible und Babel, in which the professor points out that the ancient Hebrews, like their modern descendants, were dealers in cultural old clothes. Basing his contentions on some Babylonian excavations, Delitsch endeavoured to prove that much of the Pentateuchal legislation, and many of its stories were direct "steals" from the Babylonians. The Kaiser delighted in this movement of the higher Bible critics, aptly called by Dr. Solomon Schechter, the higher anti-Semites, to rob the Jews of the only debt the world acknowledges it owes to them—the Bible.

The Kaiser, weary in his exile and isolation at Doorn, seems to have had a relapse of his old religious mania. For solace he seems to have turned to the Bible and theology. As a result he now presents to the Protestant Church of Germany a new version of the Bible. The Kaiser's Bible omits completely the Old Testament and includes only the New Testament. In the place of the former the Kaiser, like Bernard Shaw, has written an introduction in which the Kaiser embodies his real views, the only views, of course, which matter. In this introduction he lambasts Jehovah as a God of war, a tribal God, and one who demands an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. The God of Israel, he states, is partly the spirit of a devil, and partly that of man. It was this God, he states, that brought on the war and defeated Germany. Is it any wonder that he hates this God, and pours out his venomous gall on the people who worship Jehovah, and call themselves by His name? They and their Bible, and their God must be uprooted and destroyed. And this sort of brotherly love the Kaiser preaches in the name of the New Testament.

Poor, poor Kaiser!

How this people whom you hate pities you! In spite of the long, long years of persecution it has never practiced hate, nor sought revenge. Jewish ethics do not command us to love our enemies as do the Kaiser's Christian ethics, because that is humanly impossible, but Jewish ethics do teach rachmonith—pity. What else is left for the Jew but to pity the Kaiser?

The Jews of Germany helped Germany rise from insignificance to a place of industrial and cultural pre-eminence. One needs but mention such names as Ballin, Hardin, Einstein, Rathenau and Stinnes, of our day, to realize what a tremendous role the Jews play in German life, and for this they are repaid with ingratitude and anti-Semitism. It was this same Kaiser who refused to find a place in his realm for the statue of Heine, the Jewish sweet singer of Germany.

The present religious outpourings of the ex-Kaiser are indicative that he is on the verge of a complete mental breakdown, and it will be no surprise to learn, one of these days, that he is a raving lunatic. His whole life has shown tendencies of lunacy, and it is only a miracle that the breakdown has not come sooner.

Henry Ford—a Joker for the U.S.A. Presidency

Every since 1919 Henry Ford, the arch-ignoramus and manufacturer of exaggerated velocipedes, has been grooming himself for the Presidency of the United States. There is only one thing in his favour. He has made money, and continues to make it, faster than any other man. Henry Ford is undoubtedly a huge success as a money maker. From a mechanic in overalls he has risen in less than fifteen years to the position of a wizard. He hobnobs with Thomas Edison and President Harding. He laughs at Wall Street and owns Detroit. He is the living symbol for every lowly mechanic that it is still possible in the U.S.A. to rise from humble beginnings to the highest rung of material success. He is the living proof of the theory that it is not education nor culture that counts; all one needs is an idea and luck. Anyone who can combine these two is a made man.

We are not interested in the candidacy of Henry Ford, because we are absolutely certain that he hasn't even a ghost of a chance. What does concern us is the demoralizing effect the Ford boom must have on the youth of that country, who by subtle publicity and propaganda are led to regard Henry Ford as one of America's immortals and a genius. The youth grows up imbued with the idea that ignorance is no disgrace, and culture no asset, only luck and money count. Henry Ford has both luck and money. Strive to pattern yourself after this model.

We know of no poison more dastardly in its effect on the growing youth than this constant holding up in the limelight of Henry Ford. He has never done anything for anybody which was not calculated to enhance the person and profits of Henry Ford. His high wages and bonus system, his paternal attitude to his employees, are all carefully designed to advertise and make more profits. It is surprising that the masses of Americans have not seen through this scheming, self-seeking, vain, egotistical ignoramus. It would be a calamity to have him run for President, not that he might be elected, but that his invidious publicity campaign, which is the most efficient on the continent, and which cost millions, would still further corrupt the morals of America's youth, and lead it astray to serve false gods.

Just as Nathan Straus issues an appeal to all Jews to vote on June 24 for delegates to the American Jewish Congress, to be held soon, a recent issue of the Magazine of Wall Street comes to our attention carrying the prophecy of the Honorable Albert Johnson, of Washington, that there will be offered for the consideration of the Sixty-eighth Congress of the United States a perfected quota immigration bill, the quotas to be based on the census of 1890. If Mr. Johnson, author of the present immigration law (which restricts immigration from old world countries to three per cent. of the persons from those countries resident in the United States in 1910), knows what he is talking about, the new bill probably will name five per cent. of the alien-born population of 1890 or about 400,000 of which all but about 22,000 would be allocated to central, north-western and northern Europe because southern and south-eastern Europe were represented but slightly in 1890. Such a bill would look pretty thin to our landsleute, most of whom would be denied admission to the United States. Perhaps Nathan Straus has his eye on the activities of the immigration hounds when he urges "a union of all Jewish forces so that we can work together to prevent any infringements upon the rights of our people, and make our voice heard against any injustice." At any rate, if our humble surmise is correct, here is a chance to see whether there are any teeth in the American Jewish Congress, and whether it can bite down hard if there are.

Speaking of immigration, the busiest man concerned with it is Secretary Davis, of Mr. Harding's cabinet, who thinks that all immigrants should be Welsh, like himself, and that all undesirable aliens making their way to the States via Canada, toward prevailing high wages, should be boxed up anywhere outside of North America. Question is, was he struck with the inconsistency of Secretary Weeks's decision to allow a band of Russian refugees to enter the country without compliance with the regulations for immigrants and free of charge, on a U.S. army transport? These refugees were once part of Koltchak's army that went about visiting cruelties upon people in synagogs, and plundering homes and shops. If the United States considers these people desirable aliens, just what can it mean by undesirable aliens?

Aimed at the agitation favouring restriction of east and south European immigration was the recent address on "The Myth of Superiority," before the National Conference of Social Workers, by Prof. Herbert A. Miller, of Oberlin (Ohio) College, who said that "'hundred per cent. patriotism' and confidence in Nordic superiority are the two most dangerous ideas in the world."

"The alternative," said Prof. Miller, "must be a new public opinion which will condemn the egoism of a nation or race as severely as it condemns that of an individual. When there are personal relations between people of different nations or races there is no basis of conflict, but when trained prejudice is let loose, reason vanishes. Every man with a brogue is a Bolshevik or a Hun, and every one of different colour is inferior. All are to be exploited, and, in the opinion of certain captains of industry, the immigrant is merely a labour commodity. The breakdown of prejudice will come when the injunction of Imanuel Kant is followed, to 'treat every person as an end, not as a means.'

"Individual egoism is a vice, and there is a social demand for its suppression. Group egoism is magnified as the highest virtue at present, whether in religion, nation, or chamber of commerce.

"Patriotism is beginning to descend to chauvinism, and the next step must be national tolerance to correspond to religious tolerance. All the new states of Europe make constitutional protection of minorities to meet this necessity. The relation of races has not yet reached its crisis, so there is little restraint on racial egoism.

"In every case public opinion has trained its groups to rationalize about their respective superiority. But this training has been artificial and mythical. People have been justified in satisfying their egoism through legend, religion, the press, the law, neighbourhood gossip, and now by science. Most immigrants are learning to fear and sometimes hate America, just as the Jews have feared and despised the Christians, for their haughty airs and much moralizing."

Men of Science and Letters Ask Aid for Physicians in Russia

Geneva, (J.T.A.).—An appeal to men of science the world over, signed by Madame Curie, H. G. Wells, George Bernard Shaw, the Bishop of London, Lord Dawson of Penn, George Lansbury, Prof. G. Urbain, member of the Institute of France, Prof. C. Achard, member of the French Academy of Medicine, Prof. A. Beresdka, of the Pasteur Institute, Prof. A. Bracnet, of the University of Brussels; Professors Mendes and Ettore Levi, of the University of Rome, Mayor Herriot, of Lyons, France, Prof. Emanuel Levy of the Law Faculty of Lyons, Dr. Bloch of Zurich, and a half-hundred other well known names, has been made in behalf of the physicians of Russia by the High Commission of Dr. Fridjof Nansen for Relief of Russia, in co-operation with the Epidemics Commission of the League of Nations represented by Dr. Norman White, it was announced to-day at the New York office of the Nansen High Commission, 1 Madison Avenue. An American committee of distinguished physicians will be formed to act in concert with the European committee named.

According to Dr. Haigh, the Russian physicians are less worried about their lack of food and clothing than by their lack of recent medical publications by which to keep abreast of the progress of modern medical science. The International Nansen Medical Relief Committee has already sent out lists of the names and addresses of two hundred physicians or their families in Ekaterinoslaw district who are destitute, six in Novomoskovsky uyezd, two in Verchnekravsky uyezd, two in Pavlogradsky uyezd, one in Nikopolsky uyezd, sixty-one in the Kiev district, one hundred and fourteen in the city of Kherson and twenty-four widows of physicians in the uyezd of Kherson. All are reported to be in desperate need of food and clothing. A large proportion of the physicians and dependents are Jews.

SAYS HARVARD STAND MAY END DISCRIMINATION

Worcester, Mass., (J.T.A.).—The defeat of the attempt to discriminate against Jews at Harvard University would prevent further such disagreeable affairs against any race or group in American institutions of learning, B. Loring Young, speaker of the Massachusets House, and an overseer of Harvard, told members of the Maccabees and Young Men's Hebrew Association at a banquet here Wednesday.

PLAN LAND ROUTE THROUGH SYRIAN DESERT

London, (J.T.A.).—A land route from the Mediterranian over the Syrian Desert to Bagdad and India using Haifa in Palestine and Beirut in Syria as service stations, will be inaugurated in the fall, according to Norman Mairu who participated in the trial trips automobiles recently made across the Syrian Desert. Mr. Mairu states a passenger and mail service over the desert by a quick land route is readily possible. The authorities of Mesopotamia and Palestine are "thoroughly interested" in the arrangements, Mr. Mairu states. His trip over the Syrian desert has convinced him of the great fertility of which the desert land is capable. By using the water power of the Euphrates and of the Tigris, which he says are now running waste, and with efficient irrigation, the desert could be made to "grow anything" in his opinion.

VAAD LEUMI ASKED TO NAME JEWISH REPRESENTATIVES

Jerusalem, (J.T.A.).—The national council of Palestine Jews (Vaad Leumi) has been asked by the government to name two candidates for the place reserved for Jews on the Advisory Council which, because of the temporary annulment of the Legislative Council, is to function as the only body representative of all sections of the Palestine population.

It is learned Mousa Kasim Pasha, in his capacity of president of the Moslem Christian Executive Committee, has cabled to King Hussein his congratulations upon the successful issue of the King's negotiations with the British over the formation of the Arab Federation. Palestine is proud to be included in the Federation, Kasim Pasha asserts.

Campaign Plans Made for New "Y" Building; Aim for $30,000

At the Primrose Club last Tuesday, the Y.M. and Y.W.H.A. of Toronto, celebrated their victories in sports by tendering a banquet to the winning teams and presenting the cups and trophies to the successful players. The best feature of the evening was the presentation of the Griff Clark Trophy to the Y.W.H.A. basket ball team, champions of the city.

Controller Joseph Singer who was chairman for the evening, made a very earnest appeal on behalf of the "Y" to the members and directors of the Y.M.H.A. present as well as to those invited for the occasion. He pointed out that the Y.M.H.A. as an institution has come to stay, that it is a necessary institution for the physical welfare and indirectly for the moral welfare of the Jewish community. Without the Y.M.H.A. these Jewish athletes and players would most probably be members of church teams and organizations, adding to the glory and renown of various churches instead of to the prestige of and respect for the Jews of Toronto, he said. Mr. Singer further pointed out that unfortunately the great number of the Jews in this city do not realize their responsibility towards the Y.M.H.A. and have so far shirked their duty and unless a strong effort be made to support this institution financially, it may have to go out of existence.

He was followed by Rabbi Brickner, who told of the respect it was gaining among our Gentile fellow-citizens, from his own personal knowledge. He explained that by giving our young men and young women a wholesome institution or physical and literary recreation under proper provision and management we were not only doing a communal work, but we were performing a religious duty towards the coming generation who are to be the future leaders and spokesmen of this community.

He was followed by Rabbi Siegel, who spoke very earnestly on the usefulness of the Y.M.H.A. and the solemn duty of every Jew in Toronto to support it. He said that if a Talmud Torah takes care of the exclusive spiritual needs of the Jewish youth, the Y.M.H.A. was just as necessary as the means of development of the body. It taught that co-operation and helpfulness to each other was the only way in which they could all succeed.

Rabbi Siegel was followed by a number of other speakers, chief among whom were: Mr. Charles Dramin, Mr. Ely Marks, Mr. J. Perkins and Mr. Max Singer.

Plans for a campaign to raise $30,000 for the purchase of a new "Y" building were outlined and Mr. J. Perkins was selected campaign manager. Contributions were donated very liberally as a start for such campaign and at the end of the evening over $2,600.00 were pledged or collected.

The Y.W.H.A. ladies' basketball team present donated the cost of a dinner promised them by Mr. Dramin towards such building funds. The feature of the evening was also the presentation to Mr. George Lister of a club bag in recognition of his services for the winning team.

TRY TO KILL PRO-JEWISH PROFESSOR

Bucharest (J. T. A.)—Acting rector Jacobovici, of the University of Klausenberg, had a narrow escape from death when a bullet was fired at him by one of a crowd of Fascisti students. Professor Jacobovici is one of the teachers opposing the enforcement of the percentage norm against Jewish students.

A number of University professors in Jassy, among them Prince Contacuzina, have received letters threatening them with murder for persisting in siding with the Jews.

The treasurer reported that the Chapter had devoted during the past year $100 to the Keren Hayesod, and had donated a gas range, china, silver and glassware to the Zionist institute, and had bought five shares in the Palestine Workers' Bank.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. M. Mehr, president; Mrs. F. Hutner, vice-president; Mrs. H. Shapiro, treasurer; Mrs. R. J. Sapera, corresponding secretary; Mrs. L. F. OHAB ZEDEK AND PINCUS ELIJAH CONGREGATIONS UNITE

New York (J. T. A.)—Announcement has been made of a consolidation which will bring about one of the largest Orthodox Jewish congregations in America, through the merger of the First Hungarian Congregation Ohab Zedek, 18 West 116th Street, and the Congregation Pincus Elijah, West 95th Street.

The plan has received the ratification of the trustees of each congregation and will go into immediate effect. The plans include the erection in the near future of an additional synagog by Ohab Zedek on the West Side, which he intended to be one of the largest in the city.

The Rev. Philip Klein, rabbi of the Ohab Zedek, will officiate at both synagogs with Rabbi Joseph J. Schwartz, of Pincus Elijah as assisting rabbi. The Rev. Joseph Rosenblatt, for eleven years cantor of Ohab Zedek, will be cantor for both synagogs.

URGE SOCIALIST WAR ON ANTI-SEMITISM

Hamburg (J. T. A.)—Anti-Semitism and other forms of racial and national hatred are denounced in a resolution adopted by the Socialist Congress. The resolution declares it the duty of socialist parties in all countries that are now become part of the Labor and Socialist Internationale to wage war on intolerance which menaces the safety and the rights of minorities.

Fascism as a form of rabid nationalism which, the resolution declares, in many countries takes the form of anti-Semitism, is also condemned and Socialists are urged to combat it.

The democratic self-government of the minorities and their right to "cultural freedom" is recognized in a separate resolution.

The resolution dealing with anti-Semitism and minority rights was introduced by representatives of the Poale Zion, one of whose leaders, S. Kaplansky, has been included in the Executive of the new Internationale. The Poale Zion is the only inter-territorial organization recognized as entitled to be represented on the new Executive Committee.

PALESTINE WITHIN ARAB ZONE BUT GOVERNMENT UNCHANGED.

Jerusalem (J. T. A.)—It is learned King Hussein of Hedjas has agreed to the treaty with Great Britain providing for an Arab Confederation and has appointed Dr. Naji El Assil to proceed to London where the formal signing of the Treaty will take place. Under the treaty, Palestine is recognized as within the "Arab Zone," but there is to be no change in the present form of government, with Great Britain as the Mandatory Power, charged by the League of Nations with the erection of the Jewish National Home.

MAYOR OF TEL-AVIV IN NEW YORK ON MUNICIPAL LOAN

New York, (J.T.A.).—Meyer Disengoff, the Mayor of Tel-Aviv, has arrived in New York in order to dispose of the remainder of the municipal bond issue of £75,000 which was floated by Bernard A. Rosenblatt, of the Zionist Executive. The issue is in the hands of Harvey Fiske and Sons, brokers.

Tel-Aviv, which was founded in 1908, is the first completely Jewish town in Palestine. In May, 1921, it was declared a separate township with municipal authority. It has an area of 5,000 dunam, a population of 12,000, private property valued at £22,000,000, and municipal property worth £50,000. It was originally intended as a garden suburb of Jaffa, but the constant arrival of fresh immigrants and the annexation of neighboring Jewish quarters had led to its constant growth.

It is now proposed to add a commercial quarter and a tract of land has been acquired on which it is proposed to erect 150 shops, stores, offices, warehouses and bank premises. To carry out these various plans the town meeting has approved a loan of £75,000 for public utility purposes, including sewerage, electricity, water installation, road construction, etc.

The municipal bonds of Tel-Aviv have been placed with a firm of brokers in New York for the purpose of raising the loan, and it is to sign the bonds already placed that Mr. Disengoff has come to the United States.

PRUSSIAN PRESS REPORTS EXCESSES IN POLISH UPPER SILESIA

Berlin, (J.T.A.)—A series of anti-Jewish excesses have occurred the last few days in the Polish part of Upper Silesia formerly belonging to Germany, according to reports of provincial newspapers in Prussia. Buk, Neutomischel, Culm and Wronke are among the places mentioned in the dispatches where anti-Jewish attacks are alleged to have occurred. The reports add that the Jews are constantly being threatened by anti-Semites and that anti-Jewish placards are prominently displayed throughout the country.

The Breslauer Zeitung reports twenty soldiers in uniform invaded the Synagog at Beuthen during divine services, with the intention of attacking the Jewish worshippers. The attempt having miscarried because of police intervention, the hooligans the same night threw hand grenades in the Jewish cemetery demolishing tombstones of the graves of dead soldiers.

HAKENKREUZLER PARTY DECLARED "LEGAL"

Vienna, (J.T.A.)—Tried for removing and destroying an anti-Semitic placard, a Christian workman was sentenced in a court here to pay a substantial fine or undergo imprisonment. The judge who sentenced the accused declared the Hakenkreuzler was a legal political party and interference with its propaganda a misdemeanor.

SEE WITOS' MOVE TO CRUSH JEWISH INFLUENCE

Warsaw, (J.T.A.).—The Jewish press of Poland is rather fearful of the results the change in the cabinet will bring as far as Polish Jews are concerned. It is clear that Prime Minister Witos will seek to isolate the minorities, particularly the Jewish deputies, and prevent their exercising any influence upon Polish policy in order that the nationalist majority shall remain loyal and intact. In this respect Witos will most likely follow the course pursued by his predecessor Sikorski. It will be recalled that Premier Sikorski's last speech contained an obvious slight of the Jews. Prior to the vote which sent him to defeat, Sikorski had declared his government was purely Polish and was dependent only upon the Polish national majority. The Jewish deputies who had voted for the socialist resolution against the inclusion of the extreme Right parties in the new government, were bitterly disappointed when this resolution was defeated by a vote of 210 against 180.

It is expected that Premier Witos will inaugurate an anti-Jewish policy by giving official sanction to the agitation favoring the restriction of Jewish students in universities.

CHRISTIANS, JEWS AND MOHAMMEDANS HOLD JOINT MEETING

New York (J. C. B.)—The first mass meeting under the auspices of the Christian-Jewish-Mohammedan Society, an organization established to create a better understanding among those religions throughout the world, was held Sunday afternoon at the Brooklyn Academy of Music. The principal speakers were Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, pastor of the Central Congregational Church; the Rev. John L. Belford, of the Roman Catholic Church of the Nativity; Dr. Thomas W. Davidson, of the Reformed Church on the Heights; Rabbi Israel H. Levinthal, Brooklyn Jewish Centre; Rabbi Clifton H. Levy, and Syud Hossain, a Mohammedan orator and journalist.

TRANSJORDANIAN INDEPENDENCE PROCLAIMED WITH SAMUEL'S BLESSING

Ammon (J. T. A.)—Notables from Palestine and other neighboring states gathered here to-day for the celebration of the Proclamation of Independence of Transjordania, with Emir Abdullah as the ruler. The text of the Declaration, which was agreed upon by the British Government in conferring the rights of autonomous administration upon the territory east of Jordan, was read by the Emir.

Sir Herbert Samuel, the British High Commissioner for Palestine, was the chief honor guest. He spoke in behalf of the British Government. Felicitating Transjordania on its attainment of independence, the Palestine High Commissioner declared Britain would continue its interest in the country, but for the rest the country would be what the Arabs will make of it.

HUNGARIAN JEWS VOTE FORD A MENACE

New York, (J.T.A.).—A plea for the elimination of Henry Ford from the Presidential race was made yesterday by the fifth annual convention of the Federation of Hungarian Jews in America, at the Hias Building, 425 Lafayette Street.

The appeal charges Ford with being a menace to the peace and prosperity of the inhabitants of the land, and states that his only virtue is that he is the richest man in the country.

Another resolution was adopted requesting the replacing of Count Szchenyi, Consul-General of Hungary to the United States, because of his alleged refusal to intercede in behalf of Jews in Hungary who, the resolution asserts, are being inflicted with "unspeakable persecution."

In his report as president Dr. Buchler declared that conditions in Hungary have not improved much in the last few years as they affect the Jews. They are still being discriminated against, ridiculed, beaten and imprisoned because of their religion, he charged.

At a special meeting of the Ottawa Talmud Torah Board, held last Wednesday evening, May 30, in the Talmud Torah Building, the final returns of the membership campaign were announced by the Campaign secretary. They showed that the sum of $2,075.00 had been subscribed, of which sum $1,055.00 had been collected in cash. The returns were received with applause, and Mr. A. I. Florence, the president of the Board, expressed his gratitude to the community at large for responding so generously, and also gave his thanks to the teams for their energy, which had resulted in exceeding the objective set. The Board unanimously elected Mr. Benjamin Fox permanent secretary to the Talmud Torah Board, in the place of Mr. M. Caplan who had resigned.

An at-home was given by the Hadassah Chapter on Wednesday evening, May 30, at the King Edward Avenue Institute, at which a large number of the members and their friends were present. A most interesting address was given by Mr. I. Zivian, entitled, "The Boys of To-day, the Men of To-morrow." In this Mr. Zivian stated that the Jewish community had been very backward in properly caring for the Jewish youth outside their own homes. He stressed the need for a fitting gathering place where the younger people of the city could come together in the correct surroundings. He suggested that the erection of a community centre, to be known as the "Moses Bilsky Memorial Hall" would be a fitting tribute to the memory of that grand old man, who had taken such an interest in all that pertained to the welfare of the community, young as well as old.

Mr. Sam Lopolsky read the report of the recent Keren Hayesod drive for 15,000 dollars, and Mr. L. Davis, the treasurer of the campaign, reported that of this sum, $11,144 had been received in cash and the remainder in pledges, shortly to be redeemed.

After the business was concluded, refreshments were served under the convenorship of Mrs. H. Dover, Mrs. D. Epstein and Mrs. H. H. Sugarman, assisted by the Misses Anne Freedman, Olive Pullan, Fay Zivian and Bee Drazin. The gathering was presided over by Mrs. A. J. Freiman, the president.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry Dover and Miss Sylvia Dover went to Montreal to attend the wedding of Miss Sara Joseph to Mr. Alex. Shayne.

On Wednesday evening in the Royal Connaught Hotel, a charmingly arranged bridge and miscellaneous shower was given in honor of her cousin, Miss Henrietta Myers, a June bride elect. The rooms were beautifully decorated with palms and ferns, in the centre of which rested a large hamper where the gifts were received. Mrs. Epstein, looking lovely in a gown of rose georgette embroidered in silver beads and a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses, received, assisted by her mother, Mrs. H. Freiman, and the guest of honor, Miss Myers. Twelve tables of bridge were played, prizes given at each table. At eleven o'clock supper was served, after which the lovely gifts were displayed. Among the guests from out of town were Mrs. Dr. M. A. Pollock, Toronto; Mrs. Solvesour and Mrs. Rosenberg of Rochester, N.Y.

The wedding took place on Sunday evening, June 3, at the Beth Jacob Synagog, of Miss Sophie Minden and Mr. Louis Wall. Rev. J. Levinson officiated, assisted by Rabbi Levin. After the ceremony a supper was served in the vestry rooms of the Synagog, at which about eighty guests were seated. The rooms had been decorated for the occasion with tulips and carnations. The bride looked charming in a dainty gown of white georgette and wore a long tulle veil and orange blossoms. Mr. and Mrs. Wall left for a trip to Buffalo and other points and on their return will reside in Hamilton. A collection was taken up at the wedding, for the Talmud Torah, at which the sum of $40.00 was raised.

The Rev. J. Levinson is back again with the Beth Jacob congregation. He has taken up his residence at 125 Charlton Avenue West.

A very pretty wedding took place on Sunday afternoon, in the United Hebrew Building, Vine Street, of Miss Sophia Gruber of Toronto and Mr. Morris Rattman also of Toronto. Rabbi S. Levin officiated. The bride looked charming in a gown of white crepe de Chine, trimmed with pearls. Among the guests present were, Mr. Leyberowitz of Philadelphia; Mr. Louis Korn of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Solomon of Welland; Mr. and Mrs. B. Lampert of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lampert, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. P. Adelman, and Mr. and Mrs. P. Rattman also of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Hershkovitz, Mr. and Mrs. J. Rosenfeld, Mrs. Gruber, Mr. and Mrs. Dulberg of Hamilton, besides many others.

The young couple left for a short honeymoon, and on their return will reside in West Hamilton.

The Beth Jacob Social Circle held a very enjoyable social last Thursday evening in their club-rooms. About eighty of the members were present. Music and dancing were enjoyed. Refreshments were served.

Beth Jacob Doves

In one of the most evenly contested games in the Church League this year, the Doves defeated the St. John Elks, by the close score of 9-8, thus taking a strangle-hold on first place.

On account of a very rough playing field, errors were numerous, but the closeness of the score all the way through kept excitement at the highest pitch.

The Doves lost about five runs on bad decisions. The spirit that prevails among the Doves, however, overcame the handicaps, and after coming from behind in many stages of the game won out in the last inning.

In the first inning, Dodson, hurling for the Elks, forced Sutton to pop an easy fly. Luburovitch singled sharply past second and reached third on Michnick's sacrifice. Fenwick walked and stole second. Luburovitch and Fenwick scored when the centre-fielder dropped Silver's hard clout. Feldman was retired on a long fly. Fenwick, twirling for the Doves, fanned the first man, but the second and third men singled. The first runner scored on a sacrifice. The third man whiffed. The game seesawed, inning after inning, until the eighth. Sutton, catching for the Doves, was supporting his mate wonderfully. In the seventh, Sutton went in to pitch and Rabinovitch came in from second. Dodson for St. John was pitching nice ball, but received little support.

The eighth inning opened 8-8 in favor of the Elks. Feldman walked, stole second and scored when Silvert hit safely. Uger fouled out and Singer whiffed but Sutton scored Silver with a timely bungle. He was left stranded when Luburovitch flied out. The Eiks failed to score in the eighth. In the ninth with two out and Silver on second, Rabinowitz singled and brought in what proved to be the winning run. Sharp fielding on the part of the Locos held the Eiks in the last inning.

The Royal Connaught Hotel was the scene of a pleasant gathering on Sunday evening, when Mr. A. J. Freiman, president of the Jewish War Orphans Committee of Canada, was called upon by the chairman, David Sweet to present a silver loving cup to Mr. Wm. Farrar, in recognition of his services. Mr. Farrar received the cup for his work when he journeyed to Europe to assist in bringing to Canada 150 orphans. A fine banquet was served after which David Sweet proposed the toast, "To the King," and explained the reason of the meeting.

Mr. Freiman in his remarks stated that he had heard that Mr. Farrar (though not a Jew) was the best Jew in Hamilton, and he was sure that his co-religionists must consider him so.

Miss Lillian Goldstein presented a bouquet of American beauty roses to Mrs. Farrar, after which Mr. Sweet called upon Mr. David Freedman of Montreal, treasurer of the War Orphans' Committee.

Mr. Freedman told of the destitution which had befallen the Jews in Europe as a result of the war. Two years ago in Russia, the Jewish people had been scourged with famine and cholera, and were in the deepest degradation. A cry went up for help and in a measure the Jews of Canada made response. A leader who was not a Jew, undertook to go out and bring back starving children. One hundred and fifty children were brought back by one whom he hoped would be remembered as the "Moses of Hamilton."

Mr. Freedman went on to say that he believed that the time was not far distant when the Jews would have a real homeland. His recent visit to Palestine impressed him with the great improvements that had been made since the war. There was one thing the Jews at least should do to bring about the fulfilment of the prophecy, and that was to be united.

David Sweet urged unity among Jews, and mentioned that the expenses of the banquet did not come out of the War Orphans' Fund, but from the pockets of the executive members. Out-of-town guests included Max and Mrs. Lipschitz, Toronto; J. and Mrs. Griener, Toronto; L. and Mrs. White, Toronto; A. J. Freiman, Ottawa, and David Freedman, Montreal.

PREMIER SIKORSKI RESIGNS; JEWS VOTE LACK OF CONFIDENCE

Warsaw (J. T. A.)—Prime Minister Sikorski of Poland and his Cabinet resigned Saturday night following an adverse vote in the Diet on the Premier's cause for a vote of confidence. The Christian Socialists, the Peasant Party Deputies and representatives of virtually all minority nationalities joined in the vote against the Government. Deputy Reich, on behalf of the Jewish members, declared he took the occasion to voice their protest against Premier Sikorski's treatment of the homeless refugees of the Ukraine, whose expulsion from Poland the Premier directed in an order issued April 15.

The discussion leading up to the Cabinet's defeat was occasioned by the Premier's request for approval of the Provisional budget as a whole, including an appropriation for secret service. The Government was defeated by the newly formed coalition of Witos, the Peasant Party leader, with the right bloc, the vote being 379 against 117.

DR. WEIZMANN URGED TO REVISIT EAST SIDE

New York (J. T. A.)—An urgent invitation to Dr. Chaim Weizmann to revisit the East Side and address a huge demonstration some time in June was extended by a conference of representatives of a few hundred East Side Jewish organizations at the Educational Alliance Sunday.

The meeting was addressed by Dr. Schmarya Levin and Bernard A. Rosenblatt. Following the opening of the convention by Harris L. Selig, a director of the New York campaign, Isaac Carmel reported the East Side has raised $75,000 for the Keren Hayesod.

YIDDISH DRAMA GUILD ORGANIZED

New York (J. T. A.)—Announcement of the organization of the Yiddish Drama Guild has been made by Mendel Helkin, its Executive Secretary. A large number of men and women interested in developing the Yiddish theatrical art, Mr. Helkin said, have already joined. The first club evening of the guild will be held on June 26, when Mr. Helkin will speak on "The Present Crisis in Dramatic Productions." David Dinsgi, playwright, will read from his works.

MEMORIAL TO JEWISH WAR DEAD DEDICATED; 400 BEDS

New York (J. C. B.)—The Jewish Memorial Hospital at Dyckman Street and River Road was formally dedicated Sunday to the memory of soldiers, sailors and marines who made the supreme sacrifice in the late war. Letters from President Harding, Vice-President Coolidge, Governor Smith, Theodore Roosevelt, General Pershing and Herbert Hoover were read.

The grounds overlooking the Hudson River were crowded with friends and fellow-workers who had been active in securing the $500,000 raised by voluntary contribution. Members from the neighboring American Legion Posts, wearing uniforms and carrying flags, attended, and there was music by the Boys' band from the Hebrew Orphan Asylum.

A bronze tablet was unveiled. It bears a bas-relief of a battlefield showing the wounded receiving medical aid, and also contains the names of the officers and directors of the hospital and of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Edmond Schwarz, President of the Hospital, said that the institution now has 100 beds, and in a short while it was hoped to make the number 400.

ROTHSCHILD QUITS DEPUTIES' PRESS COMMITTEE

London (J. T. A.)—The monthly meeting of the Jewish Board of Deputies broke up unexpectedly yesterday when Lord Rothschild resigned and Mr. Henriques, who presided, left the chair and withdrew from the meeting. The incident arose over the question of the acceptance of a motion to appoint a paid secretary for the press committee. The proposal was opposed by the Press Committee itself, which asked that the decision be postponed until the Board's special committee investigating the Press Committee's activities had time to report. The motion having nevertheless been accepted, Lord Rothschild informed the meeting of his resignation from the Board.

Mr. Henriques then proposed that the meeting be adjourned, while a number of members insisted on proceeding. It was then Mr. Henriques left the chair and the meeting broke up.

EXPLOSION ROCKS JEWISH STUDENTS' HOME IN WARSAW

Warsaw (J. T. A.)—Unidentified persons threw a bomb at the Jewish Students' Home here causing considerable damage but no loss of life. Two members of the Home's committee were arrested on suspicion and released after being held for twenty hours.

The Jewish Deputies [illegible] contributed one million marks towards the repair of the damage done to the Home by the explosion.

SAYS TIME ARABS APPEALED TO LEAGUE

Jerusalem (J. T. A.)—The Arab daily "Philistine" proposes that the Arabs who are not satisfied with Sir Herbert Samuel's policy, appeal to the League of Nations. The suggestion is prompted because the Government has paid no attention to the resolution of the Arab Economic Conference.

The "Philistine" suggests that the Arab representatives demand that the Government lift all land taxes which have remained in force since Turkish times. The paper advises that a copy of this demand be sent to every member of the British Parliament. The Arabs meantime are to pay taxes. If the Government answers in the affirmative well and good. If not the Arabs can then appeal to the League of Nations against the British Government. The [illegible] paper concludes: "If the League of Nations accepts our demands well and good; if not, we are a race, and our efforts alone are sufficient to accomplish our ends."
